A T a PUBLIC MEETING held at the Ro-lice Office Brisbane Water, for providing the means of erecting a Church, &c. the following Resolutions were proposed:-

Ing Resolutions were proposed:—

1.—Moved by Mr. Donnison, and seconded by Mr. Bean.—That the population of the District of Brisbane Water is such, as to make the provision of some public means of religious instruction highly desirable; but, that owing to its scattered nature, one Church will be insufficient. It is therefore desirable to select different sites, whereon te exect two Churches. different sites, whereon to erect two Churches of the communion of the Church of England, and that two separate subscriptions be imme-diately set on foot, for the collection of funds for defraying the expenses of the same.

2.—Moved by Mr. Hely, and seconded by Mr. Watson—That His Lordship the Bishop of Australia, having stated, that the provision of a Dwelling House will be a necessary preliminary to his appointment of a Clergyman to reside in the District, a separate subscription be also set on foot for the purpose of erecting a Parsonage.

.—Moved by Mr. Moore and seconded by Mr. Scott.—That the site of the Parsonage shall be chosen by the subscribers to the two Churches, in a public meeting to be holden at the Police Office on the same day, to be appointed by the Committee, of which there shall be fourteen days notice.

-Moved by Mr. Hely, and seconded by Mr. Moore—That the following gentlemen be requested to act as a Provisional Committee:...
Mr. Donnison, Mr. Hely, Mr. Bean, Mr. Watson, and Mr. Henderson, and that they may be requested to procure subscriptions for the proposed object. proposed object.

-Moved by Mr. Scott, and seconded by Mr. Donnison-That it is desirable that one of the Churches be erected on Point Frederick, and the other on the vacant Crown Lands, near Green Point or Kingcumbar.

-Moved by Mr. Watson, and seconded by Mr. Moore—That the following gentlemen be requested to aid the Committee, in furthering the objects of these Resolutions:--Mr. Mann, Mr. M'Quoid, Mr. Manning, Mr. Townsend, Major Smith, and Mr. W. T. Cape

7.—Moved by Mr. Donnison, and seconded by Mr. Scott—That persons subscribing one pound and upwards be entitled to vote at all publicmeetings; those subscribing five pounds to have two votes, -Moved by Mr. Bean, and seconded by Mr.

Hely—That persons non-resident or detained by illness, be allowed to vote by proxy at all public meetings. All proxies to be in writing. .—Moved by Mr. Moore, and seconded by Mr. Donnison...That a copy of these Resolutions be published once in each of the public news.

Passed this 1st day of February, 1838. ALFRED HOLDEN,

It was then moved by Mr. Hely, and seconded by Mr. Bean...'That Mr. Holden should vacate the Chair, and that Mr. Moore should take it. Moved by Mr. Donnison, and seconded by Mr. Bean...That the thanks of the Meeting be given to Mr. Holden, for his able conduct in the Chair.-.-Carried unanimously,

"Knowledge is power." Lord Bacon

Sir George Gipps.

THE arrival of His Excellency Sir George Gipps is anticipated every hour. The Government boats are kept in readiness night and day in expectation of the event. There cannot be a doubt that the assumption of the reins of Government by Sir George wili form an important era in the history of this Colony. At all events, it is so anticipated on all hands.

WOOL, OIL, AND BONE.

Extract of a letter, dated London, October 7. 1837 :- " Our wool sales are continuing at prices much similar to those contained in our letters to you of the 19th middle quality, which you would perceive bore an unreasonable high rate of advance, are a trifle lower—thus equalising, in some measure, the advances on the two qualities.

"Sperm oil is still permanent; indeed some few parcels have changed hands at an advanced rate.

"Southern oil £31 10s. to £32; and bone, for fine samples, still maintains its high price.

"These prices are only supported, at present, by the absence of information from Davis' Straits; but this month will, no doubt, fix oil at a different rate, either

On Wednesday, a private belonging to H. M. 51st regiment, while upon duty on Goat Island, dropped down senseless, and was carried to the guard-bed; he was subsequently conveyed to the hospital, but medical aid was of no avail, the vital spark had fled. An in-quest was held upon the Body, and a verdict of "Died by the visitation of God," returned.

An apprentice stated in the Police Office yesterday, that the way he was bound, was by all the parties assembled getting drunk, and when they came to their senses, they informed him that the ceremony was completed.

Yesterday an old sinner, an inmate of the Resterday an old siniter, an initiate of the Bedevolent Society, was charged with stealing a jacket from one of the men belonging to the same establishment. His defence was that Mr. Stack starved the horses! The Bench

We were happy to see Mr. Young ensconse in the Colonel's chair on Wednesday; inspira-tion must follow. In fact, in the course of that day Mr. Y. did make a beginning relative to two Teas, but young beginners should not be found fault with in the first instance, or their rising genius may be checked.

The Campbell Town Quarter Sessions commenced on Monday, and closed on Tuesday evening. The Calendar was very light.

Thomas Law Price, the late Surgeon of the Lady Romena, has been convicted upon two in-formations preferred against him for forgery, and sentenced to be transported for life to Hobart Town.

An assigned female servant before the Bench on Wednesday complained that she was de-prived of all her little religious comforts, meaning that she was not allowed upon Sundays to visit public houses, and do the amiable with her fancy

A peculiar circumstance struck our notice in the administration of justice at the Police Office on Wednesday. Several parties were charged with a breach of the Market Regulations, and were each fined two and sixpence and three and sirpence costs! Surely there is a want of consixpence costs! Surely there is a want of consistency in making the costs in any case of penalty more than the penalty itself; and for what are these costs to be paid? Simply for a printed form filled up, which any printing establishment in Sydney could sell at three-pence each; certainly the autograph of the compence of the compensation. manding Magistrate may be worth something handsome—to those who are curious in such handsome—to those who are curious in such matters; but most persons would decline having any thing to do with such caligraphy. At all events, the charge for costs of three and sixpence when the penalty is but half-a-crown is monstrous. The plea of its always having been the custom is not admissible here; as well might the inhabitants of the Fejee's urge that they had devoured human flesh from time immemorial, and therefore the custom was good. Oh reform and therefore the custom was good. Oh reform it altogether.

On Tuesday night a constable named Lynch was sent for, to take into custody a female prisoner of the Crown assigned to Mrs. Rutledge, of Elizabeth street, who had misbehaved. As the woman was leaving the house, she let fall a paper which was thought in the first instance to be starch; a candle was procured, and the con-stable stooped down to inspect the parcel, which stable stooped down to inspect the parcel, which immediately exploded and horribly mangled his face. The paper, it afterwards appeared, had contained a pound of blasting powder, but for what purpose the woman had procured it at present remains a matter of doubt.

On Monday a stage coach started from the London Tavern, George-street, bound for Parra-matta; it jogged on merrily, supporting its equilibrium: when half-way down the Brickfield Hill, one of the mourners following a funeral called to the coachman and informed him that he was minus a wheel, and such was the fact, one of the supporters of the machine had come off, and reposed quietly upon the spot from whence the coach started, and there is no doubt wheels, so nicely was it poised.

Lies of the Day.—It is not true that the British-built Brig "Ex M. P." has been totally wrecked in the Downes. No, no; the com-mander of that staunch vessel, knowing well the mander of that staunch vessel, knowing wen the shoals and quicksands of that treacherous road-stead, was well prepared for all ventures, and seeing a storm brewing, he slipped his cable, crowded all sail, and safely anchored in Port RAMUS, with the loss only of a few spars.

STAR CHAMBER. - FALSE DELICACY. - OF Fuesday, at the Police Office, occurred another of those snuggled examinations held by Mr. Windeyer in private, which are so opposed to the administration of fair and impartial justice and so repugnant to the feelings of Britons. An assault had been committed upon a Mrs. Neil on Monday in the Government Domain, with intent, &c. by a man named Clarkson, and when the case came on to be heard it was adjudged more delicate to hold it in private. Delicacy indeed! a phico for such nonsense: why, will not the prosecutrix be under the necessity of appear-ing publicly before probably hundreds of people in a public court of justice, where the delicacy of closed doors is unknown? To talk of such fastidious nonsense is a libel upon common sense. Besides, how are the public to be aware of the demeanour of the presiding Magistrate, and whether instice is impartially administered which they have a right to demand. There was another nice smuggled case which came off before the Colonel in his snuggery on Tuesday. It was the charge relating to Captain Milligar and the loss of the schooner Schah, in which th public feel much interest, and for that reason i vas heard in the Star Chamber style; was neard in the Star Chamber style; but the decision arrived at was this—the affidavits are to be laid before the Attorney General for his decision. The whole affair will end in fumo. In closing this paragraph, we again assert, fearless of contradiction, that the holding of private and secret investigations creates a disgust in the minds of the people, which should be at all times avoided, towards those who, if their proceedings were shove-board, would meet with respect and veneration.

The men Tracy and Doyle, for horse stealing have been remanded for further examination fo a week.

The woman Susan M'Lean, mentioned in our last, as being it custody on charge of stealing a watch from a man, in Ambrose's public house, in Globe street, has been committed to take her trial for the same, but allowed bail.

A man named Clarkson was sworn to, and on Wednesday fully committed to take his trial, for an assault, with intent to commit a rape, in the domain. He would be allowed bail if he could

That public pest, Charles Kinslow, has been at last convicted, and sentence of death recorded against him. This man has made his appearance at every sittings of the Quarter Session for some years past, but always had the good luck to slip through. We should hope now that he will not be let loose upon the public for some years to come.

On Wednesday night, a young man of respectable appearance, named John Fletcher Miller apparently a new comer, was found lying dead drunk in the street, his shoes and watch gone the guard of the latter having been cut through; his coat pocket a pocket-book had falle containing two pounds, which fortunately lay alongside of him. It was necessary to procure a wheelbarrow to convey him to the watchhouse. When he came to his senses in the morning, and found his watch gone, he first charged one & then another with having stolen it, but he ultimately acknowledged when before the Bench, that the most probable way of accounting for its disappearance, was his own intoxication. He handed out a sovereign, pocketed the change, and having given a description of his watch to the Police, departed.

Doyle, for riding away with Mr. Campbell's horsefrom the Royal Hotel, which he had solicited and obtained permission to hold, and putting it in the pound after stealing the saddle and bridle, was committed on Thursday to take his trial for the same.

The following amusing dialogue took place between the Colonel, and a person named Wilson, giving evidence in a case of robbery.

Colonel.—Friend Wilson, art thou of the Society of Friends called Quakers? Wilson.—Yeu, verily. Colonel.—Wast thou drunk last night? Wilson.—Yea. Colonel.—And the night before? Wilson.—Yea. Colonel.—And the night before? Wilson.—Yea. Colonel.—Wilt thou take an oath friend Wilson? Wilson.—Nay. Colonel.—Hast thy society not a garb by which they are known? Wilson.—Yea. Colonel.—Why dos't thou not wear it? Wilson.—Yea. colonel.—Why dos't thou not wear it? Wilson.—Yea. Colonel.—Why dos't thou not wear it? Wilson.—Because'l like the cut of these better. Colonel.—Hast thou been read out of thy, Society? Wilson, (with a groan.)—Yea, Verily. Colonel.—What initials are upon the seal which thou didst lose, are they thy juitials? Wilson.—They are J. F. M. my initials; I gave in a wrong name to save exposure; my name is John Fletcher Miller. Colonel.—Has't' thou been long in the country? Wilson.—I came in the Siam. Friend Wilson as he called himself, then made an affirmation in the black of an each made an affirmation in the place of an oath, which the Colonel directed to be minuted upon the affidavit, as he had some doubt whether a Quaker read out of the Society should not be called upon to take an oath as other Christians,

On Thursday a man went into the shop of Mr. Johnson, the watch and chronometer maker of George street, and offered for sale a gold seal, split ring and locket; Mr. J. asked him where he got them from, when he replied that he had them for years: looking at the stone in the seal and observing letters upon it, he asked him what was his name, to which he answered, "Oh! I picked them up in the street this morning. He was stopped and a constable sent for, when he made a desperate effort to leave the shop, and struck Mr. J.'s son violently, fortunately Mr. Broad was present, who seized him by the collar, otherwise he must have escaped. He is in the custody of the Police, and his examination will be resunted this morning.

It will be seen by advertisement that Mr. Tegg has just received a stock of Cooper's patent pickle jars, which are highly recommended to families, being a great improvement for pre-serving pickles, &c. They simply act with a screw, which renders them perfectly air tight.

screw, which renders them perfectly air tight.

All the attempts which have been made to make the Police Office, ship shape, have failed. The two new buildings, which have cost not a few hundreds, are tumbling down; in the roof the ceiling has gone, and apon entering the free Court yesterday, a man standing upon the Bench one second, went the next through a trap door in the roof by a species of machinery that would be valuable to any Theatre requiring the use of be valuable to any Theatre requiring the use of ariels and other spirits of the air. We at first thought that private Theatricals were being got thought that private Theatricals were being got up, but upon enquiry found it was necessary to do something to the roof to prevent the rain coming in; and this a new building! During a heavy shower, the rain came in like a water-spout, and washing tubs, frying pans, and pots dechambres, vere put into requisition. In another couple of months, we expect that each of the offices will act well as shower baths, providing we have wet weather, as they already exhibit symptoms of being in training for that purpose; then props, posts, and scaffold poles will be introduced to support the roof, and it will be found necessary to unroof and reroof these specimens of necessary to unroof and reroof these specimens of Colonial building. There is also another nuis. colonial building. There is also another nuisance; a score or two of workmen are tinkering all day long, erecting stalls for horses, or something of that kind, inside the passage leading to the old office; if they are not meant for horse, stalls, what are they meant for? We pause for a reply. While upon this head, we would just observe, that the scats and desks in the office are serve, that the sears and desks in the office are allowed to remain in a filthy state, from dust, &c. A good joke, by the by, occurred the other day:—On our way to the P. O., we encountered Fitzpatrick the inspector, who, pulling himself up to his full height, and giving his whiskers a twist in the true Sydney Police style, gave us to understand, that it was his interior to help understand, that it was his intention to bring an action against us, yes against us, because we had made known his bravery in escaping from the squib and cracker mob on the night of the Jubilce. We smiled, and passed on. Just by Jubilee. We smiled, and passed on. Just by way of remark to Inspector Fitz, and all others in like case offending;—whenever they think fit to kick at our hints, which are thrown out for the public good, we shall apply the lash upon the raw with redoubled vigor. We may as well pour out all our complaints at once, and just recommend to Rawson, the Assistant Superinter. commend to Rawson, the Assistant Superintendent, not to attempt again snatching away the and that to in the midst of an important case then going on, by way of venting his spleen at the Press, which we know he abhors...We reemerging dur pen commend him to be cautious in future.

An assigned female servant arrived from the Factory at the house of her master, Dr. Lloyd, of Macquarie-place, on Wednesday afternoon, at four o'clock, ate her dinner, dressed and walked out, returning at six o'clock blind drunk, and commenced a torrent of abuse, she was consigned to the watch house, and the following morning sentenced two months to the third class of the
